ORDER GRANTING MOTIONS FOR FINAL APPROVAL OF CLASS ACTION SETTLEMENT, ATTORNEYS'
FEES AND COSTS, AND CLASS
REPRESENTATIVE SERVICE PAYMENT

13 Re: Dkt. Nos. 88, 89, 93
14

15 Pending before the Court are three motions filed by Plaintiff Fidel Altamirano. Plaintiff 16 moves for (1) final approval of the class action settlement, Dkt. No. 93; (2) final approval of an 17 award of attorneys' fees and costs, Dkt. No. 89; and (3) final approval of a class representative 18 service payment, Dkt. No. 88. Defendants Shaw Industries, Inc. and Shaw Industries Group, Inc.
19 do not oppose the motions. The Court held a final fairness hearing on January 7, 2016. Dkt. No.
20 97. For the reasons stated below and at the hearing, the Court GRANTS the motions.

I. BACKGROUND

A. Litigation History

21 Plaintiff filed this class action in Alameda County Superior Court on January 22, 2013.
22 Dkt. No. 1. On March 1, 2013, Defendants removed the action to this Court. Id. Plaintiff filed 23 the operative second amended complaint ("SAC") on August 5, 2015. Dkt. No. 87.

24 The SAC asserts nine causes of action related to Defendants' alleged: (1) payroll policies 25 that "shaved" or "rounded" minutes from daily time worked, resulting in minimum wage and 26 overtime violations, see id. ¶¶ 13-19; (2) failure to pay employees for legally required meal breaks 27 and rest periods, id. ¶¶ 20-27; (3) failure to provide accurate wage statements, id. ¶¶ 28-30; and (4) 28 failure to pay employees all wages due at the time of termination or resignation, id. ¶¶ 31-32.

1 The parties exchanged written discovery requests, produced thousands of pages of 2 documents, and scheduled Plaintiff's deposition. Dkt. No. 90 ("Lavi Decl.") ¶¶ 6-8. On October 3 25, 2013, the parties participated in mediation and, while no settlement was reached that day, 4 continued to discuss settlement with the aid of the mediator until an agreement was finalized 5 approximately one year later. See id. at ¶¶ 9-10.

6 Plaintiff filed a motion for preliminary approval of the class action settlement agreement 7 on November 12, 2014, Dkt. No. 57, and an amended motion for preliminary approval on 8 February 16, 2015, after this case was reassigned, Dkt. No. 68. The Court heard oral argument on 9 March 26, 2015, and denied the amended motion for preliminary approval without prejudice on 10 May 14, 2015. Dkt. No. 78. In that order, the Court found that the agreement suffered from an 11 obvious deficiency: by calculating individual settlement payments based solely on a pro rata share 12 of wages earned, it drastically undercompensated class members who worked shifts that were 13 longer than ten hours. Id. at 7-8. The Court's order provided Plaintiff leave to file a second 14 motion for preliminary approval, which was submitted on June 9, 2015. Dkt. No. 80. On July 24, 15 2015, the Court granted Plaintiff's second motion for preliminary approval of the class action 16 settlement. Dkt. No. 84.

17 In accordance with the court-approved notice plan, the appointed settlement administrator 18 mailed class notices and claim forms to 735 settlement class members. Dkt. No. 93-2, Ex. 15 19 ("Cunningham Decl.") ¶¶ 3-8. In addition, the settlement administrator mailed reminder postcards 20 to 664 settlement class members who had not submitted a response by October 13, 2015. Id. A 21 total of 220 settlement class members submitted claim forms by the final deadline. Id. No 22 objections were filed, and only one class member opted out of the settlement. Id. ¶¶ 12-17.

23 B. Overview of the Proposed Settlement

24 In full settlement of the claims asserted in this lawsuit, Defendants agree to pay $500,000 25 within 15 business days from the date this Order is entered. Lavi Decl., Ex. 1 ("Settlement 26 Agreement"). This amount includes payments to class members for release of their claims, any 27 award of attorneys' fees and costs, the settlement administrator's costs, a $1,500 payment to the 28 Labor and Workforce Development Agency pursuant to California's Private Attorneys General

1 Act (“PAGA”), and any incentive award to Mr. Altamirano. Id. at 18-19.

2 The proposed settlement defines the settlement class as all “current or former hourly, non-3 exempt employee of [Defendants] who performed paid work for [Defendants] in California” from 4 January 22, 2009, up to and including the date of preliminary approval of the settlement. Id. at 2.

5 The amount payable to each class member under the terms of the Settlement Agreement 6 depends on the number of class members that submit settlement claim forms. Id. at 20. Seventy 7 percent of the distributable amount will be divided amongst the authorized claimants that worked 8 shifts longer than 10 hours, with each individual receiving a pro rata share based on the number of 9 qualifying shifts they worked compared to the total number of qualifying shifts worked by all class 10 members. Id. at 19-20. The remaining thirty percent will be distributed by dividing each class 11 member’s gross wages earned during the class period by the total gross wages earned by all 12 participating class members during the class period, and then multiplying that percentage by thirty 13 percent of the distributable amount. Id. at 20. The settlement amount is non-reversionary, 14 meaning that in no circumstance will any of the $500,000 revert to Defendants, regardless of how 15 many class members submit claim forms. Id. at 18.

16 The Settlement Agreement provides that all class members other than those who opt out 17 shall release Defendants from “all Released Claims, whether known or unknown during the Class 18 Period.” Id. at 27. The Settlement Agreement defines “Released Claims” to mean:

19 [A]ny and all claims . . . which relate to any claims which were 20 alleged or could have been alleged based on the facts in the 21 Operative Complaint filed by Plaintiff . . . for (1) Failure to pay 22 minimum wages for all time worked in violation of California Labor 23 Code sections 1194 and 1197; (2) Failure to pay overtime wages for 24 all time worked in violation of California Labor Code section 510; 25 (3) Failure to provide meal periods or pay meal period premiums in 26 violation of California Labor Code sections 512 and 226.7; (4) 27 Failure to provide accurate wage statements in violation of 28 California Labor Code section 226; (5) Failure to timely pay final wages in violation of Labor Code sections 201 and 202; (6) Unfair business acts and practices in violation of California Business and Professions Code sections 17200, et seq.; and (7) Civil Penalties pursuant to California Labor Code sections 2698, et seq.; (8) Failure to pay minimum wages for all time worked in violation of 29 U.S.C.
201, et seq.; (9) Failure to pay overtime wages for all time worked in violation of 29 U.S.C. 201, et seq.; and (10) Failure to authorize and permit rest breaks or pay rest break premiums in violation of California Labor Code section 226.7, as well as claims for 1 restitution and equitable relief, expenses, punitive damages, waiting 2 time penalties, penalties of any nature whatsoever, and attorneys' 3 fees and costs, arising out of the claims which were alleged in the 4 Operative Complaint. For Class Members who submit Claim Forms, "Released Claims" include Fair Labor Standards Act ("FLSA") claims whether known or unknown, arising during the class period for the Class Members, based on the claims reasonably related to those alleged in the Lawsuit.

5 Id. at 5-6. Further, the Settlement Agreement provides that, with respect to the foregoing Released 6 Claims, class members "expressly [waive] the benefits of California Civil Code §1542." Id. at 6.

7 Within 15 days of receipt of Defendants' settlement payment, the Settlement Agreement 8 requires the settlement administrator to issue checks for participating class members. Any 9 settlement checks uncashed after 180 calendar days shall be void, and the amount shall be 10 escheated to the State of California pursuant to California Code of Civil Procedure § 1513. Id. at 11 23.

12 II. DISCUSSION

13 A. Motion for Final Approval of Class Action Settlement

14 1. Legal Standard

15 "The claims, issues, or defenses of a certified class may be settled . . . only with the court's 16 approval." Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(e). The Court may finally approve a class settlement only after a 17 hearing and a finding that the "proposed settlement is fundamentally fair, adequate, and 18 reasonable." Hanlon v. Chrysler Corp., 150 F.3d 1011, 1026 (9th Cir. 1998); Fed. R. Civ. P.
19 23(e)(2). "[T]he decision to approve or reject a settlement is committed to the sound discretion of 20 the trial judge." Id. When making this decision, courts consider the following factors:

21 the strength of the plaintiffs' case; the risk, expense, complexity, and 22 likely duration of further litigation; the risk of maintaining class 23 action status throughout the trial; the amount offered in settlement; 24 the extent of discovery completed and the stage of the proceedings; the experience and views of counsel; the presence of a governmental participant; and the reaction of the class members to the proposed settlement.

25 Id. In addition, "[a]dequate notice is critical to court approval of a class settlement under Rule 26 23(e)." Id. at 1025.

27 2. Adequacy of Notice

28 Rule 23(c)(2)(B) requires "the best notice that is practicable under the circumstances, 1 including individual notice to all members who can be identified through reasonable effort.” The 2 notice must “clearly and concisely state in plain, easily understood language” the nature of the 3 action, the class definition, the class claims, class members’ right to exclude themselves from the 4 class, and the binding effect of any class judgment. Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(c)(2)(B). Additionally, 5 before granting final approval of a proposed class settlement, a court must “direct notice in a 6 reasonable manner to all class members who would be bound by the proposal.” Id. 23(e)(1).

7 While Rule 23 requires that “reasonable effort” be made to reach all class members, it does not 8 require that each individual actually receive notice. See Rannis v. Recchia, 380 F. App’x 646, 650 9 (9th Cir. 2010).

10 The Court previously approved the notice and notice plan proposed by the parties. See 11 Dkt. No. 84. As described above, in accordance with the Court’s orders, the settlement 12 administrator mailed the approved notice to 735 settlement class members and reminder postcards 13 to the 664 settlement class members who had not submitted a response by October 13, 2015.
14 Only five notice packets were ultimately undeliverable. Cunningham Decl. ¶ 10. A total of 220 15 settlement class members representing 62.33% of the distributable settlement amount submitted 16 claim forms by the final deadline. Id. ¶ 18. No objections were filed, and only one class member 17 opted out of the settlement.

18 In light of these facts, the Court finds that the notice and notice procedures used here 19 complied with the requirements of Rule 23(e).

20 3. Fairness, Adequacy, and Reasonableness of Settlement

21 Having found the notice procedures adequate, the Court next considers whether the 22 settlement as a whole comports with Rule 23(e).

23 i. Strength of Plaintiff’s Case and Risk of Continued Litigation

24 Approval of a class settlement is appropriate when plaintiffs must overcome “significant 25 barriers” to make their case. Chun-Hoon v. McKee Foods Corp., 716 F. Supp. 2d 848, 851 (N.D.
26 Cal. 2010). Courts “may presume that through negotiation, the Parties, counsel, and mediator 27 arrived at a reasonable range of settlement by considering Plaintiff’s likelihood of recovery.”
28 Garner v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co., No. 08-cv-1365-CW, 2010 WL 1687832, at *9 (N.D.

1 Cal. Apr. 22, 2010). Additionally, difficulties and risks in litigating weigh in favor of approving a 2 class settlement. Rodriguez v. W. Publ'g Corp., 563 F.3d 948, 966 (9th Cir. 2009). “Generally, 3 unless the settlement is clearly inadequate, its acceptance and approval are preferable to lengthy 4 and expensive litigation with uncertain results.” Ching v. Siemens Indus., Inc., No. 11-cv-04838-5 MEJ, 2014 WL 2926210, at *4 (N.D. Cal. June 27, 2014) (internal quotation marks omitted).

6 While Plaintiff maintains that he would likely prevail on the merits of his case, he would 7 face substantial challenges in continued litigation. First, it is not clear that Plaintiff could 8 successfully maintain class certification throughout the litigation. Defendants argue that 9 documentary evidence and witness testimony show that there were no unlawful company-wide 10 policies or practices in effect, which would require individualized consideration of each 11 employee’s experience. If individualized issues pervade the factual analysis such that no common 12 questions of law or fact exist, class certification cannot be maintained. See Wal-Mart Stores, Inc.
13 v. Dukes, 131 S. Ct. 2541, 2556-57 (2011). Second, even if Plaintiff successfully certified a class, 14 Defendants argue that they had proper meal and rest policies and procedures in place. Finally, 15 even if Plaintiff prevailed on the merits, the litigation likely would have taken substantial time to 16 complete.

17 The Court finds that these factors weigh in favor of settlement.

18 ii. Settlement Amount

19 This factor “is generally considered the most important, because the critical component of 20 any settlement is the amount of relief obtained by the class.” Bayat v. Bank of the W., No. 13-cv-21 02376-EMC, 2015 WL 1744342, at *4 (N.D. Cal. Apr. 15, 2015). Because “the interests of class 22 members and class counsel nearly always diverge, courts must remain alert to the possibility that 23 some class counsel may urge a class settlement at a low figure or on a less-than-optimal basis in 24 exchange for red-carpet treatment on fees.” In re HP Inkjet Printer Litig., 716 F.3d 1173, 1178 25 (9th Cir. 2013) (internal quotation marks omitted).

26 Plaintiff calculates that the gross settlement amount represents approximately 14.3% of the 27 unpaid wages at issue, excluding penalties, which in turn means that the net settlement amount 28 represents approximately 9.5% of the unpaid wages potentially recoverable at trial. Dkt. No. 93-1

1 at 11. “It is well-settled law that a cash settlement amounting to only a fraction of the potential 2 recovery does not per se render the settlement inadequate or unfair.” In re Mego Fin. Corp. Sec.
3 Litig., 213 F.3d 454, 459 (9th Cir. 2000). Based on the facts in the record and the parties’ 4 arguments at the final fairness hearing, the Court finds that the settlement is within the range of 5 reasonableness in light of the risks and costs of litigation. See Stovall-Gusman v. Granger, Inc., 6 No. 13-cv-02540-HSG, 2015 WL 3776765, at *4 (N.D. Cal. June 17, 2015) (granting final 7 approval of a net settlement amount representing 7.3% of the plaintiffs’ potential recovery at trial).
8 Accordingly, this factor weighs in favor of approval.

9 iii. Stage of Proceedings

10 “This factor evaluates whether the parties have sufficient information to make an informed 11 decision about settlement.” Larsen v. Trader Joe’s Co., No 11-cv-05188-WHO, 2014 WL 12 3404531, at *5 (N.D. Cal. July 11, 2014) (internal quotation marks omitted). “In the context of 13 class action settlements, as long as the parties have sufficient information to make an informed 14 decision about settlement, formal discovery is not a necessary ticket to the bargaining table.” 15 Bellinghausen v. Tractor Supply Co., 306 F.R.D. 245, 257 (N.D. Cal. 2015) (internal quotation 16 marks omitted). “Rather, the court’s focus is on whether the parties carefully investigated the 17 claims before reaching a resolution.” Id. (internal quotation marks omitted).

18 Here, prior to reaching a settlement, Plaintiff served multiple written discovery requests on 19 Defendants, reviewed thousands of pages of documents, scheduled his deposition, and was in the 20 process of filing a motion for summary adjudication. Lavi Decl. ¶¶ 6-8. The Court finds that the 21 parties adequately understood the merits of the case before settlement negotiations began.
22 Accordingly, this factor weighs in favor of approval.

23 iv. Experience and Views of Counsel

24 “Parties represented by competent counsel are better positioned than courts to produce a 25 settlement that fairly reflects each party’s expected outcome in litigation.” In re Pac. Enters. Sec.
26 Litig., 47 F.3d 373, 378 (9th Cir. 1995). The Court has previously evaluated class counsel’s 27 qualifications and experience and has concluded that counsel is qualified to represent the class’s 28 interests in this action. Dkt. No. 84. The Court notes, however, that courts have taken divergent

1 views as to the weight to accord counsel's opinions. Compare Carter v. Anderson Merchandisers, 2 LP, 2010 WL 1946784, at *8 (C.D. Cal. May 11, 2010) ("Counsel's opinion is accorded 3 considerable weight."), with Chun-Hoon, 716 F. Supp. 2d at 852 ("[T]his court is reluctant to put 4 much stock in counsel's pronouncements, as parties to class actions and their counsel often have 5 pecuniary interests in seeing the settlement approved."). The Court finds that this factor tilts in 6 favor of approval, even though the Court affords only modest weight to the views of counsel.

7 v. Reaction of Class Members

8 "It is established that the absence of a large number of objections to a proposed class action 9 settlement raises a strong presumption that the terms of a proposed class settlement action are 10 favorable to the class members." In re Omnitvision Techs., Inc., 559 F. Supp. 2d 1036, 1043 (N.D.
11 Cal. 2008). A small number of objections to and opt-outs from a settlement "presents at least 12 some objective positive commentary as to its fairness." Hanlon, 150 F.3d at 1027.

13 Here, the overwhelming majority of settlement class members reacted favorably to the 14 proposed settlement. Of the 735 class members notified, only 1—or 0.1%—opted out of the 15 settlement. Moreover, no objections were filed. The Court finds that this factor weighs in favor 16 of approval.

17 * * *

18 After considering and weighing all of the above factors, the Court finds that the proposed 19 class action settlement is fair, adequate, and reasonable, and that the settlement class members 20 received adequate notice. Accordingly, Plaintiff's motion for final approval of class action 21 settlement is granted.

22 B. Motion for Final Approval of Attorneys' Fees and Costs

23 Class counsel requests an award of $125,000 in fees and $17,000 in costs.

24 1. Legal Standard

25 "In a certified class action, the court may award reasonable attorney's fees and nontaxable 26 costs that are authorized by law or by the parties' agreement." Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(h). Because 27 California law governed the claim here, it also governs the award of attorneys' fees. See Vizcaino 28 v. Microsoft Corp., 290 F.3d 1043, 1047 (9th Cir. 2002).

1 Under California law, “the award of attorney fees is proper . . . if (1) plaintiffs’ action has 2 resulted in the enforcement of an important right affecting the public interest, (2) a significant 3 benefit, whether pecuniary or nonpecuniary, has been conferred on the general public or a large 4 class of persons and (3) the necessity and financial burden of private enforcement are such as to 5 make the award appropriate.” Press v. Lucky Stores, Inc., 34 Cal. 3d 311, 317-18 (1983) (internal 6 quotation marks omitted). Based on these criteria, and the parties’ agreement, the Court finds that 7 class counsel is entitled to attorneys’ fees.

8 Additionally, class counsel is entitled to “recover as part of the award of attorney’s fees 9 those out-of-pocket expenses that would normally be charged to a fee paying client.” Harris v.
10 Marhoefer, 24 F.3d 16, 19 (9th Cir. 1994) (internal quotation marks omitted).

11 2. Class Counsel’s Request for Fees is Reasonable

12 Under California law, courts have the power to award reasonable attorneys’ fees and costs 13 where, as here, a litigant proceeding in a representative capacity secures a “substantial benefit” for 14 a class of persons. Serrano v. Priest, 20 Cal. 3d 25, 38 (1977). The two primary methods for 15 determining reasonable fees in the class action settlement context are the “lodestar/multiplier” 16 method and the “percentage of recovery” method. See Wershba v. Apple Comput., Inc., 91 Cal.
17 App. 4th 224, 254 (2001); accord Hanlon, 150 F.3d at 1029.

18 The Court first considers the lodestar method. The first step in the lodestar analysis is to 19 multiply the number of hours counsel reasonably expended on the litigation by a reasonable 20 hourly billing rate. See Graham v. DaimlerChrysler Corp., 34 Cal. 4th 553, 579 (2004); Hanlon, 21 150 F.3d at 1029. Once this raw lodestar figure is determined, the Court may apply a multiplier to 22 the lodestar if warranted upon consideration of certain enhancement factors like (1) the results 23 obtained; (2) the novelty and difficulty of the questions involved; (3) the requisite legal skill 24 necessary to litigate the case; (4) the preclusion of other employment due to acceptance of the 25 case; and (5) whether the fee is fixed or contingent. See Serrano, 20 Cal. 3d at 48.

26 Here, class counsel calculated total lodestar fees of $135,732.50 based on 219 total hours
27 worked as of October 13, 2015. Dkt. No. 89-1 at 10-11. The Court has reviewed class counsel’s 28 time records and billing reports, and finds that the number of hours devoted to this case is 1 reasonable. The Court further finds that the billing rates used by class counsel to calculate the 2 lodestar are reasonable and in line with prevailing rates in this District for personnel of 3 comparable experience, skill, and reputation.

4 Class counsel's fee request of $125,000 is less than the lodestar amount. Moreover, the 5 propriety of the requested fee award is confirmed by a cross-check based on the percentage of the 6 gross settlement amount obtained. The agreed-upon fee here represents 25% of the settlement's 7 gross cash value, which equals the "benchmark" percentage applied in the Ninth Circuit. The 8 Court finds that the requested fee award is reasonable and therefore grants the request.

9 3. Class Counsel's Request for Costs is Reasonable

10 Class counsel has provided an itemized list of the costs incurred during this litigation, 11 separated by category. See Lavi Decl., Ex. 4; Dkt. No. 91 ("Majarian Decl."), Ex. C. Class 12 counsel incurred a total of $20,242.87 in costs, broken down as $1,439 in filing fees, $2,870.83 in 13 service and messenger costs, $4,750 in mediation costs, $5,400 in expert data analysis costs, and 14 $4,450 in travel costs. Id. However, class counsel requests only $17,000 in costs. The Court 15 finds class counsel's request reasonable, and therefore grants the request.

16 C. Motion for Final Approval of Class Representative Service Payment

17 "[N]amed plaintiffs . . . are eligible for reasonable incentive payments." Staton v. Boeing 18 Co., 327 F.3d 938, 977 (9th Cir. 2003). The district court must evaluate a plaintiff's incentive 19 award using "relevant factors includ[ing] the actions the plaintiff has taken to protect the interests 20 of the class, the degree to which the class has benefitted from those actions, . . . [and] the amount 21 of time and effort the plaintiff expended in pursuing the litigation . . ." Id. at 977 (internal 22 quotation marks omitted). In the Ninth Circuit, a $5,000 incentive award is "consistent with the 23 amount courts typically award as incentive payments." In re Toys-R-Us Del., Inc. FACTA Litig., 24 295 F.R.D. 438, 470 (C.D. Cal. 2014); Harris v. Vector Mktg. Corp., No. 08-cv-05198-EMC, 25 2012 WL 381202, at *7 (N.D. Cal. Feb. 6, 2012) ("Several courts in this District have indicated 26 that incentive payments of $10,000 or $25,000 are quite high and/or that, as a general matter, 27 $5,000 is a reasonable amount.").

28 Plaintiff requests a service award of $4,400. During the course of this litigation, Plaintiff

1 subjected himself to public attention and potential retaliation by acting as named plaintiff.
2 Moreover, he searched for an attorney, collected pertinent documents, traveled to meet with 3 counsel, prepared for his deposition, and assisted in responding to discovery. Dkt. No. 88-1 at 2.
4 In light of Plaintiff's service to the class, the Court finds that the requested service award is fair 5 and reasonable. Accordingly, the Court grants Plaintiff's motion for final approval of class 6 representative service payment.

7 III. CONCLUSION

8 For the foregoing reasons, the Court orders as follows:

- 9 1. The Court grants final approval of the proposed settlement and
